VILLAGE IS DEMOLISHED

RELIEF PROMPTLY GIVEN.

Today food stations were established and owners of motor cars were pressed into service delivering food to public buildings, institutions and private homes serving as temporary shelters for the stricken.

So far as was known today the tornado cost ninety-one lives and injured to about six hundred persons in Coles County. Reports from the farming districts indicated that the casualties were heaviest in the two cities. The farmers, however, reported heavy property losses in the destruction of buildings, the death of stock and damage to growing crops. Available estimates place the damage to the county at between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 of which $1,250,000 was in Mattoon and about $750,000 in Charleston.

George Chu, age eleven years, and Le Koon You, age ten, are the latest additions to the New York battalion of the junior naval and marine scouts. A brigade of forty scouts from the Chinatown district was planned and all were to have enrolled together. However, when the hour for enrollment arrived these two were the only ones who showed up.

NEWARK'S CAMP SITE ATTRACTIVE SAYS WAR DEPARTMENT'S EXPERT

Captain William B. Borden, member of the federal board to select a site for the Ohio and West Virginia troops, visited Newark yesterday morning and accompanied by the Chamber of Commerce committee, inspected the ground in the vicinity of Hanover and Toboso which has been suggested as a site for the big military camp.

Captain Borden spent several hours in driving over and inspecting the ground and did not hesitate to express the opinion that the site offered by Licking county is very attractive from a military standpoint. The ground consists of a large plateau and hundreds of acres of rolling land admirably adapted for maneuver.

The Pennsylvania trunk line goes through this territory as does the Ohio Electric and the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is within a short distance. The site is also reached by the Newark and Zanesville macadam pike. There is an abundant supply of good water, the drainage is excellent and sufficient natural gas is available for camp purposes. There is ample room for a target range and numerous good roads for hiking purposes.

Doctor Borden stated that at least a thousand acres would be needed for the buildings as it is proposed to build a camp large enough for 30,000 soldiers. He inquired particularly about health conditions, food supplies, labor and amusements and made a careful record of conditions as he found them for report to the Department. The Doctor left a number of questions to be answered by the Committee and to be forwarded promptly this week. He stated that the site would be selected on or before June 10th, that a great deal of work is necessary to be done before the soldiers are called into service about September 1.

Five boards composed of regular army officers have been appointed by Major General Barry, commanding the central department of the army, with headquarters at Chicago, to investigate and report on available sites in the middle western states for training camps for that part of the first contingent of 500,000 troops to be raised in this section.

The board appointed to select a site for the Ohio and West Virginia troops consists of Colonel Carl Reichman, infantry, senior inspector instructor for the Ohio Guard; Major William Wallace, infantry; Major W. P. Stokey, engineers; Major Walter Dempsey, quartermaster reserve corps, and Captain W. B. Borden, medical corps.

The board has already inspected sites at Cleveland, Toledo, Bellefontaine, Urbana, Charleston, Grove City, Chillicothe, Circleville, Columbus and other points over the state but as the time is growing short and several other points are to be inspected before the decision is reached the board divided yesterday morning in order that four different sites might be inspected during the day. The officers are at Parkersburg today.

The local committee and Dr. Borden were taken over the grounds yesterday in A. A. Stassel's and J. R. Fitzgibbon's machines. A topographical map had been prepared by Dr. W. H. Knauss, member of the committee and this was of much service during the inspection of the site. Dr. Borden said before returning to Columbus at noon that the selection of a site is to be made within the next few days and in no event later than June 10.

The local committee telegraphed to Congressman Ashbrook today for topographical maps issued by the United States Geological survey.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS CLOSE CONVENTION LATE SATURDAY

A three days' demonstration for more efficient work in city, township and county Sunday schools closed with the afternoon sessions of the county Sunday school convention. The city and township organization held a meeting Thursday evening, and the county organization Friday and Saturday. The boys and girls congress held an afternoon meeting Saturday.

The Saturday afternoon session of the County Sunday School convention was the last of the series of meetings held in connection with this organization. Following the devotional service, Miss Martha Lundy, a prominent Newark school teacher, gave a very interesting talk on "Teaching." Miss Lundy gave many very valuable ideas to the Sunday school teachers, presenting her subject in a way which proved to be beneficial.

Mrs. Phebe Curtis, one of the Sunday school officials, gave an interesting talk about the boys and girls training camp in Lake Geneva, Wis. The purpose of this two weeks camp, is to strengthen the boy and girl in becoming greater leaders. Mrs. Curtis advised every Sunday school to send some wide awake child to this camp. The results of the training would make their Sunday schools more proficient, as leadership is the great need in the Sunday school.

The departmental conferences went into sessions, following Mrs. Curtis's talk, when the subjects were discussed which had to do with the coming year. Renewed effort was emphasized above all other things. The election of officers took place at this time also.

The main feature of the afternoon was the chalk talk by Rev. Otto Giesen, of Granville, his subject being "Soap Bubbles," or the power of an ideal. By illustrative sketches, Mr. Giesen showed how we are always looking into the future. It is not what we were yesterday nor today, but what we will be tomorrow, that fills our thoughts. The speaker emphasized the placing of Jesus Christ, as a model for Sunday school children, as a guide to the future. A man must have an ideal if he wishes to accomplish anything. Too many times we dream our ideals, but get no further. In order to make them real, we must work diligently and stick to our ideal.

The last picture sketch by Mr. Giesen was that of a boy blowing soap bubbles. Each bubble represented the ideal of some boy, such as knowledge, money, patriotism and last of all, a crown, representing Jesus Christ. Mr. Giesen brought out the significance of having our ideals reach the cross.

Miss Nellie Wygant gave an interesting and helpful talk regarding township and county school work. Miss Wygant made an earnest plea for better Sunday schools in Ohio. Her talk was very impressive and helpful.

MOTORCYCLE RIDER HAS ACCIDENT NEAR COLUMBUS

Columbus, May 28. — Grove Smith, 630 Woodlawn avenue, Zanesville, is in a hospital here with a fractured skull as the result of a motorcycle accident on the Broad street pike. Ada Rowe also of Zanesville, who was on the machine with Smith, was badly cut and bruised about the face and body. The machine skidded on the wet road as they were on their way to Zanesville. Dr. Harry Hunt of Newark who was returning to Newark rendered first aid and called the ambulance, which removed Smith to the hospital.

SUNDAY WEATHER WELL ASSORTED BUT UNSEASONABLE

Sunday was a teaser. One minute an observation of the sky impressed you that it was going to be a pretty day, but when the sky darkened the air was chilly and damp, and in spite of the fact that the first of June is hurriedly advancing overcoats were not uncomfortable and many were seen on the street.

Buckeye Lake had a good attendance in spite of the threatening weather, but the heavy showers in the evening somewhat dampened the ardor of the pleasure seekers. The weather man predicts continued showers this evening with warmer weather the middle of the week.

BUY A BOND.

Liberty loan bonds are not only the world's safest investment but they yield a good return, 3 1-2 per cent tax free. Two hundred billions of wealth and the earnings of a hundred million people are back of the Liberty loan.

The indications now are that the Liberty bonds will be oversubscribed.
One New York bank a few days ago subscribed for $25,000,000 and bankers throughout the country are giving their service towards the proper distribution of the bonds.

It is a patriotic duty to see that these bonds are quickly subscribed.
Jacob H. Schiff, the prominent New York banker, points out the fact that there are possible profits involved in the purchase of Liberty bonds that are attracting out some of the advantage of the new bonds Mr. Schiff says that "such an opportunity has never been offered to the investor.
Here is a 3 1-2 per cent, tax-free bond of the Government of the United States which, if the war lasts any longer, may possibly, by reason of its convertibility into a higher rate bond that may be issued, become automatically a 4 or even a 4 1-2 per cent. bond, while if the war should be a short one, which may be possible, and is to be hoped for, the further issue of Government loans is likely to cease abruptly, in which event the Liberty Loan bonds are absolutely certain to go to a considerable premium."

Y. M. C. A. ARMY WORK.

The speed and apparent ease with which the local committee raised over $4,000 for Licking county's share of the big fund the Y. M. C. A. is raising for the army camps speaks well not only for the Newark Young Men's Christian Association but for the people of this community as well.
The Y. M. C. A. is doing splendid work for the soldier boys and it deserves to succeed in the effort to raise a vast sum to continue the work in the new army camps soon to be established. On September 1st we are to have a new army of a half million men.

The Y. M. C. A. has already planned its course in connection with this army. It will construct 100 large new buildings. It will have in the field at least 500 experienced secretaries—practical fellows who know how to co-operate with and work for the comfort and well-being of the soldiers. It proposes to secure 100 pianos, and the same number of piano players, 100 moving picture machines, 250,000 feet of film a day, 100 graphophones and 500, 000 records, 1,500,000 sheets of writing paper daily, 20,000 pounds of ink, 5,000 pens and barrels of ink, Bible for every man, 50 automobiles and trucks and hundreds of tons of reading matter—every item for the comfort and convenience and relief of our soldier boys. It will require at least $2,000,000 for this work, and the various cities in this country are being asked for their proportionate share of the fund.

The Y. M. C. A. is non-partisan and whatever to any man's religious belief or faith. It works alike for Protestant, Catholic, Jew and Gentle. It provides buildings for social centers, stationary for the use of men who desire to write home, newspapers and books, all kinds of athletic sports, wholesome entertainment of all kinds, lectures, educational classes, personal interviews with the boys and visits to the hospitals.

GRAINS FOR FOOD.

(Ohio State Journal.) Statistics from the department of agriculture show that in the year 1916 there were 56,512,235 bushels of grain used in making alcoholic drinks. There is a strong effort being made to stop the use of grain for making liquors while the war lasts.
It will all be needed for food in maintaining the soldiers abroad and the people at home. Taking from it altogether the moral of a temperance event, it is patriotic, because it devotes the resources to the defense of the country and the cause of democracy. We are going to have an awful hard time getting through this great war, and we will need all the help we can get, and one of these helps, and a great one too, will be in using grains for food instead of liquors. Let us hope the government will have spun enough to have it so.

OUR NAVY OVERCOMING U-BOATS.

(Pittsburgh Gazette Times.) Premier Lloyd George's tribute to he past the United States has taken in reducing the submarine menace leaves some things to conjecture.
He told the House of Commons. "We owe a considerable debt of gratitude to the great American people for the effective assistance they have rendered and the craft they have placed at our disposal." Further, "during the last three weeks or month we have dealt more effectively with submarine than during and corresponding period of the war." And he declared the German dependence for success, placed in submarine warfare, is doomed to disappointment. For practical purposes that is enough to know, disappointing as it is as to details. But Lloyd George has said it and he is not given to idle boasting.
When he gives our naval support of British activities credit for a measure of the success achieved, we can only guess as to what change in British naval policy has been brought about by the arrival of Rear Admiral Sims and the American destroyer flotilla in British waters. It is hardly likely mere addition of our vessels to the patrol forces is responsible for the improvement of conditions. Either the Americans took abroad a new and efficient device for detecting and hunting submarines or they prevailed upon the British to adopt the policy of convoying merchantmen, which has been recommended from this side ever since the destruction of the Lusitania. Whatever the new strength of the Allies at sea if it continues effective in overcoming the German underwater monsters it will speedily uproot the Kaiser's hope of winning the war, for he has staked everything on them.

SLOW IN EMERGENCIES.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.) Minister Balfour compliments the United States upon the progress in preparing for actual participation in the war. The minister has been the nation's guest, and perhaps some of his gentility is due to the fact that he has handled million hosts and tastesses. Nevertheless, Mr. Balfour's statement is no exaggeration of fact.
Democracies are traditionally slow in such emergencies as have faced the United States in recent months. It took Great Britain herself nearly two years of grueling war to learn the necessity for compulsory military service. Canada is only now coming to conscription, though Canada has been in the war nearly three years.

The American fault was that preparations for conflict were not started sooner. Whether we were to enter the war or remain out to the end, we should have been permitted ourselves to be so unready as we were when congress declared that a state of war existed.

Nor does the fact that fair speed has been made in organizing American resources for war excuse those extremists who fought against the war declaration and then, war having been decided on, used all their strength to prevent the nation from utilizing its full strength in the battle line. The progress which Balfour commends was made in spite of their opposition. Better progress would have been made had they been more responsive to their obligations.

LIGHTING IN WAR TIMES.

(Electrical World.) We look with mingled regret and amusement on the somewhat hysterical inclination to suppress all lighting along our seacoast in preparation for raids of a wholly improbable, not to treasury, exhausted by the costly wars with Britain and Prussia, and by excessive prodigalities, he inaugurated numerous reforms and the strictest economy of expenditure.

His extreme parsimony in all matters of finance made him a choice subject for caricature, so that any mode or fashion that was plain and cheap was styled a la Silhouette; and profiles made by tracing the shadow projected by the light of a candle on a sheet of white paper being then much in vogue, have continued to bear the name. Profiles cut out of black paper also receive the name of silhouettes.

say impossible, character. There are very few points on the coast where a U-boat would venture to operate on the surface in face of the searchlights of the naval patrols.
Actual attack of the coast by such craft is more likely occur at gray of dawn after the lamps are extinguished and searchlights become comparatively useless than at night. There is little likelihood of any airship peril, in view of the fact that every plane would necessarily be lost by having to descend into a hostile country or an unfriendly sea.

As regards lights on the coast, lighthouses and beacons of every kind well known and serving to guide a nautical prowler may reasonably be extinguished. It also might be desirable to suppress the brilliant illumination of conspicuous headlands, so as to rob the shore of its familiar marks. This done, it makes little difference whether the far-spread casual lamps along the shore are lighted or extinguished, for any town of considerable size betrays its presence by a conspicuous glare in the sky, visible for many miles and serving as a far better guide than scattered lights along the shore line.

It is so easy a matter to cut off all public lighting at a few minutes' notice that if the necessary arose any coast city could be darkened as thoroughly as London has been. Experience there seems to show that so long as there is light enough on the streets by which to see the city is not dark in a military sense at all.
The extreme public inconvenience of darkening of coast towns on more rumors. And nothing except complete darkness can deceive an enemy as to the position of his sought-for point of attack.

The best defense against raids on the coast is an aggressive patrol, and in reality more is to be feared from hostile operations reasonably conducted on shore, and greatly assisted by the absence of illumination than from any attack by sea.

Not In Stock.

"How much are calories? I want to buy 500," a young woman inquired of the floorwalker.
"Calories?" he replied. "I don't believe—500 I doubt if we have that many in stock. However, inquire at the dress goods counter."

"Have you any calories in stock?" she asked the clerk.

"Calories? What's them?" The clerk for once looked puzzled.

"Well, I don't know. But I know this wouldn't be the department. Calories, you know, are something to eat.
I went to a food lecture the other day, and they said to eat at least 500 calories a day. I suppose it's a vegetable."

"I suppose so," said the clerk.—Columbus Dispatch.

A Food Dictatorship.

Extraordinary times require extraordinary government. The necessity for military law involves the establishment of a degree of arbitrary power which would not be tolerable in times of peace. The maintenance of the food supply of a nation is an essential to the development of its military strength. But even in this light legislation dealing with the vital interest of every citizen in the food market cannot be hastily drafted, or endorsed, without challenge, simply upon the plea of war's necessity.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

How Long Can It Go On?

It is known that our General Army Staff is making preparation for a "long war." Three years more of war is the minimum limit, if we may believe those who have intimate association with our military experts. Nevertheless the opinion of a military man is of no more weight in this matter than that of any other well-informed person. It is all but universally admitted that there is no immediate prospect of the war coming to an end. Neither side has yet shown the requisite amount of exhaustion. Both have reserve power in men and material. But when our experts speak of the war going on for two and even three years more there are plenty of reasons for believing that such a prolongation of the struggle cannot be.—Buffalo Commercial.

Doing Our Bit.

We want to tell it to the whole world that our potatoes are beginning to blink their way through the irresolute soil. We have been watching them for days, even scraped some soil from above them, so as to get them nearer the air, and then sprinkled them with water, so as to freshen their souls for flight.

DADDY'S BEDTIME STORY

The Young Storks Won Prizes

(Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen.)

RIGHT after supper daddy began his story for the children: "Young storks are much like boys. They don't like to be teased without getting back at those who tease them. So they vowed revenge upon the street boys who sang cruel songs about stork babies."

"Of all the street boys no one was worse at making fun of the young storks that lived on a roof than one small boy hardly six years old. The young storks thought he was as much as a hundred years old. He was so much bigger than they were, you see. He was so much bigger than their own father and mother even. They had no idea how old a boy should be before he grew up."

"So the young storks especially wanted to take revenge upon this small boy, who was the ringleader of his mates. He was a tease. The older the storks grew the more they hated his teasing. At last their mother had to promise that they might have their revenge upon this boy, but that they must wait till the day before they left for their winter in Egypt."

"We shall have to wait and see how you all behave at the grand maneuvers," she would say to them. "If you do poorly and the stork general has to pierce you with his beak, why, it will be proved that the teasing boys are right in bothering you, after all. Now we will soon see who is right at the maneuvers."

"You will see!" cried the young storks. And what pains they took drilling to fly and to hover! They practiced each day till they could fly almost as lightly as a feather. It was quite a pleasure to watch them wheel about in the air."

"Then came the autumn. All the storks began to assemble before they started on their flight to warm countries where they spent the winters. Those were indeed maneuvers! The young storks had to fly over woods and towns, try their wings again and again, because they had such a long flight before them. But they did so well that the stork general gave them lots of young snakes and frogs as prizes."

"Of course Mother Stork almost burst with pride of her small family, and, with tears of joy in her eyes, she watched her youngsters gobble the snakes and frogs after the maneuvers were ended, for you may be sure the young storks were very hungry from so much exercise and lost no time in picking up their fine prizes."

"Now we shall have our revenge upon the boys!" they cried after their full meal.

T. R. IS WANTED IN FRANCE WITH ARMY DIVISION

(Associated Press Telegram)
Paris, May 28.—Former Premier Clemenceau, in an open letter to President Wilson printed in his paper L'Homme Enchaîné, appeals to the president to send over Colonel Roosevelt and "his companions." Mr. Clemenceau says:

"In invaded France at the present hour there is a name which represents by I know not what force of intuition, the beauty of America's intervention—it is that of Roosevelt. You are too much a philosopher not to know that great popular leaders have influenced men out of all proportion to their own real value, by the intangible atmosphere of legend which, has formed around them."

"Whatever may be the reason and without attempting to analyze the phenomenon I yield to the imperious need to tell you that the name of Roosevelt has in our country at this time a legendary power. It would be an enormous error in my view to neglect a force which everything urges is to make use of as soon as possible."

"We have learned that the first American unit has arrived at the front and with what zest generals and privates saluted the noble starred banners. However, you should know, Mr. President, that more than one stout chevroned point said to his comrade in an astonished voice: 'But where is Roosevelt? I don't see him!'"

VROOMAN CALLS THIS A WAR AGAINST FAMINE

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Says We May Be Called on to Feed Teutons.

A part of America's food problem is to make provision for helping to feed the population of the central powers after the war, according to Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of agriculture.

"If the war ends this year, or whenever it ends," he said, "a part of the task of the United States will be to help feed the people of Germany and her allies, who will assuredly be in dire need when they stop fighting."

"This war," he continued, "is a war against famine. It will be won by the nation that can best supply itself and its allies with food."

Mr. Vrooman has just come from a tour of the southern and southwestern states, where he was sent by the department of agriculture to urge greater food production. He said the department had been assured by the farmers of the south and west that they would add 20 per cent to their normal production of crops. He advised southern farmers to raise less tobacco and more grain.

Mr. Vrooman said that the prospects for a big wheat crop in the United States were poor. He also said that Argentina would have a small crop. He expected the United States government to follow the lead of European governments in prescribing "war bread"—that is, bread that used all of the wheat. He estimated this would mean a saving of from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels of wheat a year in America.

"With the farmers of the United States doing their part to better the food situation," he said, "it is the part of the city dwellers to help by conserving the supply."

He said $700,000,000 a year in food was wasted in the kitchens of the United States and urged the housewives to practice economy in food and to teach their cooks to practice economy.

"The average American when he goes into a restaurant often enough food for three persons," he said, "just because he can pay for it."

NAMING SUBMARINES.

First United States Undersea Boats Took Cognomens From Fish.

Every one knows what submarines are and what an important factor they have become in modern naval warfare. Their nomenclature is interesting, says the Popular Science Monthly.

In the United States navy the first of these crafts were named for various kinds of fish and reptiles, and we had such odd cognomens as Adder, Moccasin, Pike, Sturgeon, Shark, Carp, Haddock, etc., on the naval lists. Before this list of piscatorial names ran down the system was changed, and designations of A-1, A-2, B-1, B-2, etc., down to the more recent submarine authorized in 1915, known as the O class.

In general the numbers applied correspond to the particular lot in which they were constructed, and the letters closely follow the number of years since they were first built. In Germany they are all known as U boats, the U being the first letter of unterseeboot, meaning submarine.

The call for recruits in shop regiments to go to France to repair railroad equipment has been issued by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in a notice which has been posted in all shops on the system calling attention of its mechanical forces to the opportunity to enlist for service abroad. Realizing that numerous mechanics in various communities while not now engaged in railroad work have had such experience, the Baltimore and Ohio will accept enlistments of such men as a part of the railroad unit.

Records of enlistment will be kept by the master mechanic of each shop who will report daily as to the number of men under his jurisdiction and in his community who desire to enter the service.

GERMANY DENIES ENGLISH CLAIM OF U-BOAT DEFEATS

Amsterdam, May 28, via London.—The speech of Premier Lloyd George last week in which he said Germany's submarines were being combated successfully, and that England could not be starved by the submarine campaign, is characterized "as only empty words" in a semi-official German reply.

"Facts are lacking," says the reply, because our navy has found little trace of the new methods whereby, according to the enemy, the submarine danger can be met. We calmly await Lloyd George's prediction as to the future."

To Impress the Young.

It is a beautiful thought that at five minutes to noon on Memorial day all work shall cease and all flags be lowered. For five minutes of grand silence, in prayer and thought, let the living pay devotion to the dead. Let comrades and the people remember during those five minutes that for the preservation of our beloved country more than 550,000 patriotic Americans gave up their lives in the great struggle fifty years ago. This observance will mean much to the young and the coming generations, impressing upon them the duty of honoring the dead who gave up their lives for their country and their flag and teaching them annually a lesson in the fundamental truths of virtue, liberty and independence.

"Honor the Knightly Dead."
The honor, strength and safety of a nation depend upon the martial spirit of the people. To cherish and perpetuate this is our sacred duty. To place flowers upon the graves of the brave men who fell in battle is a privilege which the living should proudly claim. We thus honor the knightly dead and instill a knightly spirit into those who still live.—General Joe Wheeler.

"SOBER FOR KEEPS AND THE HAPPIEST MAN IN THE COUNTRY"

A Letter of Appreciation from Former Patron of the Neal Institute.

"I think I am the happiest man in the country," writes a graduate of the Neal Institute to the physician in charge.

"I have never had the least appetite for drink. My business calls me in saloons but it is no temptation whatever. If you ever see me in after years you will see a sober and a thankful man."

This man, freed from the power of drink—adds that his family and friends are all delighted in the marvelous change in him.

The Neal Treatment does change the whole course of a drinking man's life. It lifts him out of the depths of despair and weakness and restores him to the high plane of manhood and self-esteem. It will take a man who just can't keep away from liquor—a man who drinks, and drinks, and drinks, just because he possesses a never-satisfied thirst and will change that restless desire into intense disgust for everything alcoholic. This is done in three days' time.

The Neal Treatment is a physician's harmless vegetable remedy, taken internally; with no dangerous hypodermic injections. Your own investigation is urged. Write for booklet to the Neal Institute, 1320 Main street, Columbus, Ohio, Phone East 860. Other Neal Institutes located at Cleveland, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Detroit.—Advertisement.

American charity is the sole dependence of these people. Their present needs require more than is being contributed.

While relief distribution has become difficult in the dotted portion, even there channels of mercy are still open. War cannot stop relief. Hundreds of thousands of refugees from the dotted into striped areas, which are under control of the allies, who are facilitating the work. Money transmitted and used without expense by efficient agents. Every dollar for relief, none for expense. A regular flow of funds is necessary to meet the situation.
